

Northeast Center for Occupational Health and Safety: Agriculture, Forestry and Fishing

28 second

Launch of Maine Loggers Health and Safety Study

November, 20th, 2017

Radio Script:

The Northeast Center for Occupational Health and Safety (NEC) is seeking Maine loggers for a study about injuries and health issues that loggers experience. You would complete a short survey each season and a one-time health screening, receiving gift cards to thank you along the way. If you get a letter or call from NEC asking for your participation, please consider helping them out. Your involvement will benefit not only you, but everyone in the logging industry. To learn more about the NEC, visit their website at www.necenter.org, or on Facebook at Maine Logger Health & Safety Study.